IPHCA and Quest Diagnostics Continue Collaboration to Advance Health Care Across Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 1, 2024 – Today, the Illinois Primary Health Care Association (IPHCA) proudly announces that Quest Diagnostics (NYSE: DGX) has continued their commitment to a three-year sponsorship aimed to advance healthcare in Illinois. This is an ongoing collaboration with IPHCA.

IPHCA's member organizations, which total 54 Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHC), provide services to more than 1.5 million people across Illinois. From primary care for all ages, to dental and behavioral health care, these health centers are on the front lines of providing quality health services to those who need it most.

Quest continues to support IPHCA's membership by providing capital for various events throughout the year. Additionally, Quest will produce educational programs for medical directors and clinical staff. And finally, Quest will offer donated laboratory services for uninsured patients that could help determine if someone has a chronic condition/disease, such as diabetes.

"Improving patients' lives and health outcomes is our mission," said Ollie Idowu, President and CEO at IPHCA. "By working with Quest, our members have new resources available to their organizations that help advance patient care. We encourage our members to take advantage of the resources Quest is offering."

At Quest Diagnostics our purpose is, "Working together to create a healthier world, one life a time." IPHCA embodies every word of that purpose. We are grateful for our collaboration with IPHCA, and look forward to building on our important work together to close gaps in care. We're proud to work with such an incredible organization," said Chris Cleves, Executive Sales Director, Quest Diagnostics.
