

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

IPHCA and Quest Diagnostics Enter Fourth Year of Strategic Collaboration Supporting Illinois Health Centers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 23, 2026 – The Illinois Primary Health Care Association (IPHCA) and Quest Diagnostics (NYSE: DGX), a leading provider of diagnostic information services, today announced the continuation of their strategic collaboration focused on increasing access to affordable, high-quality, and comprehensive healthcare services for medically underserved communities across Illinois. Now entering its fourth year, the collaboration continues to strengthen support for community health centers and the patients they serve statewide.

IPHCA's 55 member organizations collectively provide care to more than 1.5 million Illinois residents each year. These health centers deliver a wide range of services, including primary, dental, and behavioral health care services, and serve as a critical healthcare access point for communities throughout the state.

Through the collaboration, Quest Diagnostics provides no-cost or significantly discounted laboratory testing services for eligible medically underserved patients. These services help health centers identify and address gaps in care, support chronic disease management, and improve patient outcomes related to conditions such as diabetes, kidney disease, and other chronic illnesses. Quest will also continue supporting IPHCA through educational opportunities for clinical leadership and staff, as well as sponsorship and investment in association initiatives and events throughout the year.

"Community health centers play a vital role in ensuring access to quality healthcare for patients across Illinois," said Ollie Idowu, President and CEO of IPHCA. "Our continued collaboration with Quest Diagnostics strengthens our ability to support health centers with valuable resources that improve patient care, advance health outcomes, and help address healthcare disparities in underserved communities."

"We are proud to continue our work alongside IPHCA in support of community health centers throughout Illinois," said Chris Cleves, Vice President of Sales, Great Midwest at Quest Diagnostics. "By expanding access to critical laboratory services and collaborating on shared initiatives, we can help healthcare providers deliver timely, effective care to the patients and communities who need it most."

About the Illinois Primary Health Care Association (IPHCA)

IPHCA is a nonprofit trade association that serves as the voice of and champion for Illinois' 55 community health centers, which serve more than 1.5 million patients annually across more than 450+ service sites in medically underserved rural, urban, and suburban areas. IPHCA.org

About Quest Diagnostics

Quest Diagnostics works across the healthcare ecosystem to create a healthier world, one life at a time. We provide diagnostic insights from the results of our laboratory testing to empower people, physicians and organizations to take action to improve health outcomes. Derived from one of the world's largest databases of de-identifiable clinical lab results, Quest's diagnostic insights reveal new avenues to identify and treat disease, inspire healthy behaviors and improve healthcare management. Quest Diagnostics annually serves one in three adult Americans and half the physicians and hospitals in the United States, and our more than 55,000 employees understand that, in the right hands and with the right context, our diagnostic insights can inspire actions that transform lives and create a healthier world. www.QuestDiagnostics.com.